Celebrate 20 years of “Keeping Kids Out of the Rough”

In 1989, the LPGA Foundation began a junior golf program with a focus on introducing kids who would not likely have the opportunity otherwise. That program, which began with just 3 sites has grown into a program that reaches out to all areas of Los Angeles County and beyond.

Many of its participants have made the most of their experience with the program by obtaining college scholarships to play golf and continue their education, but more importantly, many more have been introduced to a game they can play throughout their lives.

Now at over 14 locations and several thousands of juniors later, the program continues the mission under the guidance of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce Foundation. Whether you know it as LPGA Junior Golf, LPGA Urban Youth Golf or LAJCC Urban Youth Golf the mission remains the same: to instill the values of honesty, integrity, respect, personal responsibility, self-discipline and courage while providing opportunities for personal growth through golf.
